

Restaurant and Franchise Finance

Whether it is private equity sponsors investing in established brands, owners growing their existing investments, or investors expanding new concepts or creating smart solutions for distressed credits, franchise and restaurant industry lenders continuously require access to debt capital markets. Katten's restaurant and franchise finance attorneys are trusted advisers in these transactions because of our deep experience, creative counsel and adept structuring of optimum financing options for our clients, including banks and finance companies, private equity funds, and corporate borrowers.

Customized transactions for clients of all sizes

Our Restaurant and Franchise Finance team has successfully navigated hundreds of unique financing transactions within the industry — from sophisticated, broadly syndicated acquisition financings to bilateral credit facilities. Our clients turn to us for accumulated industry knowledge and creative solutions for financings of new restaurant concepts, large franchisee groups and internationally recognized brands.

We are uniquely able to bridge the dynamics of debt financings with the unique aspects of working with franchises and restaurants. Whether it is helping clients understand the impact of franchise laws; interacting with franchisors; or working through industry-specific financial metrics, reporting and covenants, we understand how to make restaurant and franchise finance deals work.

We regularly assist lead arrangers, administrative agents and lenders to both lead and participate in senior secured credit facilities, unitranche products, first- and second-lien credit facilities, preferred stock issuances, mezzanine debt, and development lines of credit.

Leveraging a diverse team

While restaurant and franchise finance is a unique niche, Katten's entire Private Credit team is available to offer a broad view of the lending markets, and we can tap the capabilities of attorneys with specific knowledge and experience from virtually any arena.

Our Private Credit team includes more than 55 attorneys representing many of the most active debt investors in the market — closing more than 500 transactions in 2018 alone.

Additionally, we regularly advise on other ongoing legal issues facing our franchise and restaurant industry clients. For example, our insolvency and restructuring attorneys can help clients navigate distressed debt sales, workouts and other potential recovery options, while our real estate attorneys can facilitate property acquisition and development as well as sale-leaseback transactions.
