

Transactional Tax Planning

Structuring transactions and tax planning can often be among the most economically significant aspects of value-added lawyering. Constant changes to the tax laws and evolving fact patterns require focused, thoughtful and innovative tax counsel that is specific to each transaction. Our attorneys thrive in this structuring world and create efficient structures that help you achieve your business objectives while maximizing your after-tax position.

Deal structures that protect and perform

Katten's dedicated Transactional Tax Planning team draws on extensive, practical experience to effectuate mergers and acquisitions, reorganizations and restructurings in collaboration with our Insolvency and Restructuring practice, joint ventures, debt and capital issuances, and management compensation planning that align with business objectives while managing liability exposure. We have considerable experience providing long-range and deal-specific tax planning based on analysis of business transactions for:

- Closely-held and public companies
- Debt capital market participants
- Hedge funds
- Private equity funds
- Real estate firms

Additionally, we represent both founders and investors in structuring domestic and multinational start-up businesses as well as venture capital investments to reap the benefits offered by applicable tax laws.

Integrated tax strategies extend value

Katten's Transactional Tax Planning team adds significant value in sophisticated deals. Our creative tax planning supports clients' goals for internal rates of return on investment, multiples on invested capital and other financial targets by identifying tax risks and opportunities, including opportunities to unlock valuable tax attributes. We guide private equity and hedge funds, private and public companies, family offices, independent sponsors, investors, founders, lenders and issuers through shifting landscapes. Our counsel anticipates and resolves structuring and tax issues in:

Key Contacts

Saul E. Rudo

Partner and Chair, Transactional Tax Planning, Co-Chair, Family Offices

Chicago

+1.312.902.5664

saul.rudo@katten.com

- Asset and stock acquisitions, dispositions or mergers
- Bankruptcy reorganizations, distressed debt workouts and restructurings and other special situations
- Commercial and real estate financings
- Debt capital markets transactions
- Family office arrangements
- Financing and securitized transactions
- Hedge fund and private equity formation or operations
- Management or other compensation planning
- Opportunity Zones
- Real estate transactions, including joint ventures

Recognitions

Recognized or listed in the following:

- Best Law Firms
 - Tax Law
 - National, 2011–2026
 - Chicago, 2011–2026
 - New York, 2013–2026
- Chambers USA
 - Tax
 - Illinois, 2006–2025
- The Legal 500 United States
 - US Taxes
 - Non-Contentious, 2015–2025
- The Legal 500 United Kingdom
 - Corporate Tax, 2026