Christina Burgess works with issuers, underwriters and lenders on asset-backed and mortgage-backed structured finance transactions. With a focus on automobile and equipment loan, lease and dealer-floor-plan receivables-backed term deals and warehouses, Christina advises clients on transaction structures and regulatory developments impacting these transactions.

Taking the surprises out of financing transactions

Christina's clients range from large, established financing companies to newcomers to the sector from across the United States. She understands they value smooth execution and surprise-free transactions and has helped multiple clients with their initial securitizations.

Christina has developed extensive experience in all types of financings transactions for equipment leasing companies and auto finance companies, including term securitizations, warehouse transactions and whole loan sales. Her mortgage loan experience includes real estate mortgage investment conduit (REMIC) and risk-sharing trust structures collateralized by performing, re-performing and non-performing loans. She draws on this broad knowledge base to anticipate and resolve key issues that arise in finance transactions.
