Zachary Morris brings experience from both government and the financial services industry to his broad-based private credit practice.

Informed, practical advice

Representing creditors and debtors in a wide range of complex financing transactions, Zach provides insight informed by practical experience. Before joining Katten, he served as associate general counsel at a financial services firm that manages distressed and reperforming mortgage-backed assets.

Zach also previously served as an attorney at the Illinois Legislative Reference Bureau, where he provided legislative counsel and drafting services to members of the Illinois General Assembly.
