Bringing dual advanced degrees in law and public health to her practice, Cheryl Murray steers health care clients through the daunting regulatory and compliance challenges they face. She finds practical solutions for systems, facilities, companies and individuals throughout the health care industry, including hospitals, physician groups, technology vendors, management companies, long-term care companies and private equity firms as well as financial institutions. Clients turn to Cheryl for contractual, compliance and transactional issues, as she structures their complex arrangements in a manner that fits their particular corporate goals and operations in compliance with state and federal laws and regulations.

Clarity in a puzzling world

In the rapidly changing world of health care, the law doesn't always keep up, leading to gray or puzzling areas. Cheryl cuts through that confusion with highly responsive and sensible solutions that allow clients to move toward their goals. The clarity and decisiveness of her counsel benefits clients facing high-pressure situations like the aftermath of a HIPAA security breach.

Cheryl helps clients with many of the day-to-day legal issues and questions that develop in the medical world, including licensing, contractual and liability matters. In particular, she helps clients with their compliance with an array of statutes and regulations, including the Anti-Kickback Statute, the Stark Law, HIPAA and the Health Information Technology for Economic and Clinical Health Act, as well as state laws. Plus she does it all with a smile and sense of humor, while taking very seriously their representation.
