Ali Kassing focuses on commercial real estate, representing clients in all aspects of the acquisition, disposition, financing and development of a variety of real estate asset classes, including multifamily residential, office, retail, senior living facilities, student housing and other asset classes throughout the United States.

A breadth of knowledge to fit a variety of client needs

Ali sees each client as an individual with a different set of business needs and preferences. Through a deeper understanding of each client's preferences, Ali is able to anticipate and advise her clients regarding potential issues which may arise over the course of a transaction and focus on providing clients with desired results.
