Jessica Harrell centers her practice on a variety of complex civil litigation matters, with a focus on complex commercial, financial and employment litigation. She is dedicated to providing her clients with the thorough research, precise drafting and zealous advocacy necessary to efficiently and effectively resolve their disputes.

Effective advocacy begins with dedication and detail

While in law school, Jessica served as an editor of the Wake Forest Law Review and a teaching assistant for numerous writing classes, which expanded and refined her research and drafting skills. Additionally, she developed oral advocacy experience through participating in moot court competitions, ultimately placing second in Wake Forest's annual intramural competition. She also spent a semester participating in Wake Forest's Litigation Externship Clinic, where she used her skills to help local clients in personal injury and commercial litigation disputes.
