Tracie Bedeaux counsels health care clients, including hospitals, physicians, health care management companies, private equity clients and non-traditional providers (complementary and integrative medicine). Tracie routinely advises traditional and non-traditional health care providers and health plans on their policy, regulatory and operational issues.

Resourceful legal and business advisor for complex regulatory environment

With her decades of in-house experience in and knowledge of the health care industry, clients count on Tracie to analyze complicated regulatory issues and assist in developing compliant and strategic business solutions. For her individualized work with clients, Tracie draws from a wealth of practical experience from her work in legal and operational roles in both provider and health plan organizations. She strives to find a legal solution tailored to each client's objectives and long-term goals.
