

ASTM Approves New Phase I ESA Standard and EPA Withdraws Direct Final Rule Referencing New Standard

Prepared for the Katten Environmental Advisory Group

November 14, 2013

The American Society for Testing and Materials ("ASTM"), an international standards-setting organization, last week approved a new standard for complying with certain environmental due diligence requirements for Brownfields. The new standard, ASTM E1527-13, entitled "Standard Practice for Environmental Site Assessments: Phase I Environmental Site Assessment Process," sets forth requirements to satisfy "All Appropriate Inquiries" requirements for conducting Phase I environmental site assessments....
