

The Reach of Restraining Notices

Published in the New York Law Journal

October 6, 2008

The article examines a crucial judgment enforcement issue which creditors regularly face, particularly during these unprecedented times: whether restraining notices issued by a New York court can restrain debtors' bank accounts located outside the state.