Jordan Feffer concentrates his practice on a variety of private credit matters for private lending institutions, banks and other issuers.

Productive transactions support positive outcomes for both sides

Jordan's practice is focused on representing secured, first lien, second lien and mezzanine lenders in cash flow credit facilities, often in connection with mergers and acquisitions in the middle market. Jordan helps his clients negotiate, draft and document their credit facilities based on deal size and market trends with an aim to benefit his clients as much as possible while still being acceptable to their client borrowers.

Jordan's goal is to streamline documentation of various financial transactions and maintain his clients' portfolios based on his experience and knowledge of cash flow lending and the middle market.
