Alison Krieser brings a blend of legal knowledge, interpersonal skills and business acumen to her practice focused on transactions across service-based industries, with a primary emphasis on the health care sector. Known for her responsiveness and ability to translate complexity into commercially sensible terms, Alison provides a steady, solutions-oriented approach when regulatory nuance and business objectives intersect.

Relationship-driven execution that grows service companies

Alison leads complex transactions for various companies, private equity firms and investment funds in diverse regulated industries, including health care, veterinary services, construction and technology, with deep experience in physician practice management (PPM) deals. Her practice centers on advising acquisitive platforms, management services organizations (MSOs), physician groups, ambulatory surgery centers and other companies on the negotiation and execution of strategic transactions. Alison's experience with PPM transactions includes primary care deals and deals in the specialties of cardiology, dermatology, ophthalmology, orthopedics, neurosurgery, pediatrics, radiology and urgent care.

Alison understands that closing the deal is not the only goal. Many of her clients' deals involve building and sustaining relationships and avoiding impasses. Her work spans the full deal lifecycle — from structuring and letter of intent through diligence, closing and post-closing integration. Alison consistently brings a people-first mindset, disciplined project management, and an unwavering focus on efficient execution that lays the groundwork for long-term success.
