Jillian Schurr-Hendrix concentrates her practice on patent issues within the pharmaceutical industry. She represents a range of pharmaceutical companies in both inter partes review and complex patent litigation under the Hatch-Waxman Act.

Well-rounded experience leads to a broad knowledge base

In addition, Jillian is dedicated to pro bono practice. She has counseled clients at the Katten De Diego Legal Clinic and has assisted on many pro bono matters including Asylum and Civil Rights. Jillian was also a Board Member and co-founder of The Endometriosis Coalition, Inc. (The Endo Co) and assisted the organization with obtaining its 501(c)(3) federal tax-exempt status.

Prior to joining Katten, Jillian worked as a disease intervention specialist at both the state and local levels where she controlled disease outbreaks through investigation and interviewing techniques. Additionally, she worked as a clinical research assistant recruiting human subjects for clinical trials. Jillian uses her experience and background in the health care industry to advise clients in the pharmaceutical industry.
