Kate Hardey combines deep industry knowledge with a focus on delivering effective client solutions. Kate is a trusted leader in navigating the regulatory and transactional challenges affecting companies in the health care provider, life sciences and food industry sectors, including pharmaceutical and medical device manufacturers, laboratories, pharmacies, physician groups, hospital systems, food manufacturers and related food industry entities.

Driving success in health care transactions

Kate is a trusted advisor to clients in the life sciences and food industries, and health care provider and health care services sectors, delivering tailored guidance on complex regulatory matters and high-stakes corporate transactions. She is frequently sought after by private equity firms and strategic acquirers for her counsel in major acquisitions and mergers. Clients with products regulated by the US Food and Drug Administration (FDA), including human and animal pharmaceuticals, medical and digital health devices, cosmetics, over-the-counter (OTC) medications, dietary supplements, and food and beverage products, rely on Kate's extensive experience with transactional strategies and regulatory knowledge to navigate complex legal and regulatory frameworks effectively.

In addition to her work on complex transactional matters, Kate delivers comprehensive support across the entire FDA-regulated product lifecycle, guiding clients through product development, clinical trials, product classification, manufacturing, sales and marketing strategies, and recalls with precision. Kate also advises on a broad spectrum of health care regulatory issues, including pharmacy compliance, corporate practice of medicine and dentistry, and fraud and abuse concerns. She guides clients through critical regulations such as the Anti-Kickback Statute, the Stark Law and other legal frameworks. Her proactive, client-focused approach ensures seamless navigation through even the most complex regulatory challenges.

A strategic partner with industry experience

Kate's distinctive background, rooted in hands-on industry experience, distinguishes her as an exceptional advisor. Her tenure as legal counsel within a large hospital system gives her unparalleled insight into hospital board dynamics and leadership teams and allows hospitals to benefit from her hands-on familiarity with physician contracting, medical staff compliance, pharmacy operations, patient privacy and patient care issues. Kate's time managing a physician practice and serving as an emergency department administrator at a top-tier academic medical center further enhances her ability to understand and assess clients' needs. From billing and coding compliance to managed care contracting, financial and strategic planning, emergency preparedness and Emergency Medical Treatment and Labor Act (EMTALA) compliance, Kate's comprehensive knowledge ensures her clients stay ahead of regulatory and operational challenges.

As former senior regulatory counsel for a prominent middle-market health care lender, Kate developed a sophisticated understanding of the regulatory risks associated with transactions involving pharmaceutical, medical device, technology and health care provider entities. She enables lenders to efficiently and effectively navigate complex lending transactions by identifying and mitigating regulatory risks, ensuring streamlined due diligence and facilitating effective lender documentation.

Kate is also one of Katten's sports attorneys who leverages her expertise in FDA and healthcare laws related to team and player medication management and facility and equipment licensing compliance and partners with others across mergers and acquisitions/private equity, debt finance, intellectual property, employment, health care, private wealth, and insolvency and restructuring. Together, this team delivers strategic, end-to-end legal solutions tailored to the demands of business in the sports industry.

Kate frequently speaks on health care regulatory trends, has been quoted in media outlets such as The Wall Street Journal, and has served as a guest lecturer for Northeastern University's ALERT Program where she presented a class on Liability, Indemnification and M&A Risks in Clinical Trial Agreements.
