Whether on the borrower's or lender's side of a transaction, Mohammed A. Alvi's practical judgment, methodical execution and effective leadership style combine to result in commercially sound solutions that meet clients' business goals.

Advancing client objectives across industries and market cycles

Mohammed represents private equity sponsors, private and public companies, direct lenders and underwriters in a wide range of complex debt financing transactions. He brings an experienced and informed approach to structuring and executing financings across market cycles, guiding clients through syndicated and direct credit facilities, acquisition financings, recapitalizations, restructurings and refinancings, often with complex cross-border elements and intricate intercreditor arrangements.

With the dexterity to provide counsel across industries, Mohammed's experience includes service to clients in life sciences, technology, software, healthcare, retail, manufacturing, gaming, professional sports and financial services, among others. He regularly counsels clients on secured and unsecured credit facilities, bridge loans, asset-backed loans, high-yield bond offerings, hybrid debt and equity offerings and bespoke special situation financings for both borrowers and lenders.

Mohammed is adept at navigating dynamic markets and delivering clear, actionable guidance to advance client objectives, while harnessing the latest advancements in legal technology. His broad range of experience includes advising on investment-grade, leveraged and distressed financings, as well as convertible and royalty structures. Additionally, he has advised on debt financings at all stages of companies' life cycles, including venture debt financings, strategic acquisitions and divestitures, IPOs and bankruptcies.
