Lydia Demnitz-King works on both debtor- and creditor-side mandates, with a key focus on corporate rescue and turnaround. She has worked on high-profile restructurings across a range of sectors including hospitality, consumer goods and financial services.

Restructuring lawyer focused on practical solutions for clients

Lydia works alongside her restructuring colleagues to deliver commercially sensible solutions on complex and often high-profile matters, bringing a strong attention to detail and a depth of experience that ensures a client-focused end product. Her experience includes both national and international mandates where she has been responsible for coordinating all of the different workstreams, and has experience advising on consensual restructuring transactions, including refinancings and asset disposals, as well as restructuring plans and administrations.
