

Market Correction Curriculum: Nontraditional ETFs

Presented by Katten

May 12, 2020

Katten will present “Nontraditional ETFs,” the first in its Market Correction Curriculum webinar series, at 12:00 p.m. (ET) on Tuesday, May 12. Financial Markets and Funds partner Sue Light, Financial Markets Litigation and Enforcement partner Chris Kemnitz, and Litigation associate Sarah Weber will address the structure of nontraditional exchange-traded notes and exchange-traded funds, the limitations of their use, potential legal issues in disputes relating to them, and deconstruct a few examples of notable product performance, like the recent performance of the crude-oil-based exchange-traded products in the wake of unprecedented activity in those markets.
