

IMN's First Annual Sunshine Backed Bonds Conference

May 3, 2013

Katten is sponsoring the Information Management Network's First Annual Sunshine Backed Bonds Conference. This one-day conference will educate investors and capital markets participants on the trends and possibilities that exist for this asset class, while identifying how improved access to affordable, large-scale funding can propel the energy sector forward for the benefit of the environment and the consumer's wallet.

Partner Chris DiAngelo will participate in a panel discussion on "Risk Management: The Role of Data and Servicers in Solar ABS" at 3:45 p.m. on Friday, May 3. The session will address the following topics:

- Risk and reward: What have we learned so far from the data?
- How has this asset class performed on a relative basis to other ABS assets?
- What are the similarities and differences between Solar ABS and RMBS from servicing perspective?
