

Advanced Tax Institute: Estate Planning Issues

November 19, 2013

Joshua Rubenstein, national head of the Trusts and Estates practice, will speak on “Immediate Pre- and Post-Mortem Planning Opportunities” on Tuesday, November 19. The presentation will address tax and non-tax planning options that should be considered when representing someone with a short or compromised life expectancy or when representing someone's estate shortly after death. The focus will be on steps that work well in a compressed timeframe, and how the current economic environment has made certain options more attractive than others.
