

Citywealth Speaks to Joshua Rubenstein on the Appeal of the Cayman Islands

February 26, 2026

Katten Partner and National Chair of the Private Wealth Department Joshua Rubenstein was featured in a Citywealth article examining how the Cayman Islands is consolidating its role as a global centre for private wealth as family offices navigate governance reforms, rising regulatory scrutiny and the integration of digital assets.

Josh explained, "From a US standpoint, Cayman has done an impressive job positioning itself as a choice location for family offices. Cayman has traditionally been 'fund-friendly,' which is helpful to family offices that have proprietary funds. But the range and competitive nature of professional services available to family offices in Cayman has become quite impressive. Its proximity to the US can be an advantage for Americans setting up family offices there as well."
