Carl Kennedy Highlights High Stakes in Sports Prediction Market Battles

Partner and Financial Markets and Regulation Co-Chair Carl Kennedy spoke with Politico regarding financial firms increasingly looking to sports prediction markets as the next frontier for trading. Sports events contracts have sparked the ire of state gaming authorities and other gaming and tribal organizations, who argue that these products are sports betting. Read Carl's comments.

Place Your Bets: US District Courts are Split on Whether the Commodity Exchange Act Preempts State Gaming Laws with Respect to Sports Event Contracts

By Carl Kennedy, Daniel Davis, Alexander Kim, Robert Bourret

Derivatives exchange and prediction market KalshiEX LLC (Kalshi) was handed a litigation setback in defending its sports event contract offerings in federal court against claims brought by the State of Maryland. The District Court for the District of Maryland denied Kalshi's motion for a preliminary injunction, allowing Maryland gaming regulators to pursue civil and criminal enforcement against Kalshi for offering sports event contracts without obtaining a Maryland gaming license. Kalshi has filed a motion for staying the unfavorable ruling while Kalshi pursues an appeal in the Fourth Circuit.

Setting the Record Straight: CFTC Staff Reaffirm the Commission's FBOT Framework, Providing Clarity to Non-US Exchanges

By Carl Kennedy, Daniel Davis, Christopher Collins, Carolyn Jackson, Nathaniel Lalone

Amid "recent confusion and disruption regarding whether non-US exchanges should register [with the CFTC] as a designated contract market (DCM) or [foreign board of trade (FBOT)] due to recent enforcement actions...," staff from the CFTC's Division of Market Oversight (DMO) issued an advisory letter on August 28 to provide clarity to non-US exchanges seeking to provide direct market access to members or participants physically located in the United States. SEC Releases Spring 2025 Regulatory Agenda: A Re-Set for Investment Management and Heavy Emphasis on Crypto Assets

By Carl Kennedy, Michael Didiuk, Adam Bolter, Daniel Davis, Richard Marshall, Christian Hennion, David Dickstein, Wayne Aaron, Susan Light

The SEC recently released its Spring 2025 Unified Agenda of Regulatory and Deregulatory Actions. While the Agenda appears undersized at 23 items compared to the 30 items that populated former Chairman Gary Gensler's Fall 2024 list, it nonetheless signals several potentially consequential rulemakings — and an equally important shift in regulatory philosophy — under newly installed Chairman Paul S. Atkins. Read about the Chairman's Statement.

James Brady Comments on SEC and 24-Hour Equity Trading Prospects

Financial Markets and Funds Partner James Brady was quoted in Risk.net discussing the SEC's approach to the potential shift toward 24-hour on-exchange equity trading by 2027. James highlighted that while the industry is closely watching the possibility of round-the-clock trading, significant technical and operational hurdles remain. Read James's comments.

Just Over Two Weeks to Complete EDGAR Next Enrollment

By Adam Bolter, Christian Hennion, David Dickstein, Eli Krasnow, Nicholas Gervasi, Robert Bourret

In 2024, the SEC adopted "EDGAR Next," which involved amendments intended to provide an easier method of accessing and managing accounts on the SEC's Electronic Data Gathering, Analysis, and Retrieval (EDGAR) system, which is used to make various filings with the SEC. All entities that make filings via EDGAR (e.g., Form D for Rule 506 securities offerings and Form 13F filings) are required to transition to EDGAR Next (for more information, please see the SEC's guide to EDGAR Next enrollment).
